ENLENS presents the findings of its Third-Year Progress Report

ENLENS

Jan 5 2026

ENLENS has released its Third-Year Progress Report, presenting key achievements of its interdisciplinary research at the University of Amsterdam. The report brings together insights from 24 projects involving more than 58 researchers across six faculties, examining how energy transition pathways interact with social, economic, environmental, and governance dimensions of sustainable development, and how they contribute to progress across all 17 SDGs.

The report is now available for download: ENLENS Third-Year Progress Report
