Research Master Urban Studies

The two-year Research Master's in Urban Studies deals with questions surrounding the increasing urbanisation of today's world. Cities are characterised by economic, social, political and cultural opportunities, but also carry risks of social problems, inequality and security issues. In this programme, you will learn to research and analyse these challenges.

The Research Master Urban Studies welcomes incoming exchange students in the first semester (September-January) only.

Incoming exchange students to the Research Master Urban Studies are required to have a solid academic background (30 ECTS) in disciplines or courses that are relevant to the Urban Studies programme. Relevant backgrounds include Human Geography, Urban and Regional Planning and Urban Sociology, among others. Students are also required to have sufficient background (30 ECTS) in research methodologies, particularly those relevant for the social sciences, with both qualitative and quantitative approaches. In addition to this, incoming exchange students to the Research Master Urban Studies are expected to have an independent and pro-active study approach. We expect students to have performed above average in their bachelor's programme and to have the ambition to pursue at least research career in academia or a research-oriented position in relevant professional fields like urban and regional planning, housing, social policy or real estate.

*We only accept the TOEFL iBT test. Other test versions or modules are not accepted. Examples include but are not limited to: TOEFL home edition, TOEFL MyBest Scores, etc.

Courses

During their exchange programme in the Research Master Urban Studies incoming exchange students are required to take at least one of the two core modules of the programme: either the core module Contemporary Urban Transformations (12 ECTS) or the module Philosophy of Science for Urban and Development Studies (6 ECTS). Students can also take both courses. Please be aware that the Philosophy of Science for Urban and Development Studies is a very advanced course with a fast pace. Students should be well prepared for this when entering the course.

Next to these courses students can choose from a number of thematic electives offered by the masters Human Geography, Urban & Regional Planning and International Development studies (block 1 and 2). Note that placement in these elective courses depends on availability of places and possible additional entrance requirements.

It is not possible for students in the Research Master Urban Studies to attend courses at bachelor's level.

All incoming exchange students are administered in the Exchange Programme - Social and Behavioural Sciences and will be hosted in the Research Master Urban Studies and will participate with the students of this programme in Orientation Meetings and other activities.

Please note that for many courses writing an academic paper or essay is required.

Students with disabilities

Students with disabilities are advised to contact the International Office at an early stage in the admission process. Information on services provided by the UvA is available here.

Housing

The University of Amsterdam housing office will send students information on the housing procedures by the end of May. The rental periods are always fixed periods. Exchange students will automatically be assigned for the first semester in case they are allotted to student housing through the university. In the past year we experienced a huge shortage in student housing as we were only able to accommodate approximately half of the incoming exchange students in the first semester. Students are therefore advised to start looking on the private market as soon as possible as they know they are nominated for the UvA. Students who cannot secure accommodation before the start of the semester are advised to withdraw from the programme.

Amsterdam faces an ongoing housing crisis and securing accommodation can take several months. Finding permanent housing often requires considerable time, effort and costs. The UvA cannot guarantee housing or help for incoming students as the housing crisis goes beyond our capacity. Carefully consider this challenge and its potential impact on your studies before committing to studying here."

Information package

Accepted students receive an Information email from the International Office Social Sciences approximately 2 months before the start of the programme. The email contains:

- Practical information about studying in the Research Master Urban Studies
- Instructions for course registration Information about Dutch language courses at the University of Amsterdam.

The Office for International Student Affairs sends UvA START Newsletters by email, including practical information on studying in The Netherlands and at the UvA: click here.

Orientation period

The International Student Network (ESN) of the Universiteit van Amsterdam organizes an Introduction period previous to the start of the semester: Home - ESN Amsterdam

The International Office- Social & Behavioral Sciences organizes an introduction period for international students including a welcome meeting and drinks, academic meeting, lecture on plagiarism, and library skills workshops.
